These three stars, each of whom is a champion, have been picked from a brilliant field by a majority of American enthusiasts, to furnish the winner of the twenty-first national Amateur golf championship tournament, to be eld here from August 28 to Septem-

More than 150 contestants are expeoted to compete in the qualifying round August 28 on the Detroit Country Club course. Harry Vardon, the famous English golfer, who shot a game on these grounds two years ago, pronounced the course the finest he had seen in America. Other noted students of the Scotch pastine have declared that no course in the course declared that no course in the course. declared that no course in the country demands more skill from star performers in championship competition. Since the links were complete in June, 1912, no one has turned in a score better than 72.

All Amsteurs Entered.

So far as known the great players from the East, Middle West, South and Pacific Coast, who are entered in the national struggle, are mostly of the opinion that no championship possibility will be greatly favored or seriously handicapped by the requirements of the course. On the other hand, it is probably their unanimous view that ments of the couse. On the other hand, it is probably their unanimous view that the "two-shot" star will be left hopelessly behind before the preliminary rounds of medal play have been completed.

Nearly all of the amateurs who competed in the championship rounds in the 1914 tournament are entered. Chicago will have more than a dozen players of national importance, in addition to the Western champion, "Chick" Evans. Jack Neville, the Pacific Coast's hope, and Nelson Whitney, of New Orleans, often referred to as "the peer of Dixie players," sent their entries in early. Through the efforts of the United States Golf Association, the field is certain to be remarkably strong for the qualifying rounds. After Monday, the tournament is expected to resolve itself into a battle of giants. a battle of giants.

Golf experts, who for months have been writing of the tournament, have delighted in again referring to the contest as a strugglo between the East and West, with about ten top-notchers on each side. Their articles, however, seemingly have been incomnotchers on each side. Their articles, however, seemingly have been incomplete without reference to the open champion, Jerome Travers; the national amateur titleholder and former open champion, Francis Ouimet and Charles Evans, Jr., long Westerner of the trio, who, for the past two seasons. Charles Evans, Jr., long Westerner of the trio, who, for the past two seasons, has been invincible in the Western amateur tournaments. These three players, it has been computed, have wen twenty-three golf titles during the past eight years. These honors do not include foreign or scholastic victories. Travers has been most successful. He has been winner of the final match in fourteen championships of distinct importance.

of distinct importance.

Course is 6,615 Yards Long.

The fact that Travers and Ouinet have not played much golf in the West, and Evans has been unsuccessful in his big matches in the East, has caused enthusiasts to study the peculiarities of the Detroit course with unusual care. The grounds were designed and built by an Englishman and are, perhaps, more representative of British ilnks and the more difficult of the Eastern courses than of those nearer the Mississippi of those nearer the Mississippi

Although the country is practically flat, the designer produced an endless variety of hazards, diagonal cross-bunkers, illusive traps and imposing mounds. Nearly all of the greens are banked and are large, giving deadly putters an owner.

"There are several sections in the law which refer to cases of this kind, and it is because of their indirectness and lack of specific reference to the selling of liquor on election day that causes the uncertainty. I wish to have some court decision on which we can base our future course, and it is for this reason that I have sought to have the present charge tested by the higher courts."

Baker, who is a native of Cleveland, and who is said to be an orphan, lived in the Thorpe residence for some time just after she came to this city. Mrs. Thorpe described the young woman as being an exceedingly nice girl, who desired as little publicity as possible. She has been employed as a manicurist at the Jefferson Hotel, and at present is employed in a downtown shop. Miss Walker is also not a native of Cleveland, and who is said to be an orphan, lived in the Thorpe residence for some time.

Gompers has always been opposed to domination of Federation councils by Socialists, or any union in the Federation going on record, directly or otherwise, as favoring socialism.

Open agitation of their propaganda by East Side labor leaders among the members of the Hebrew labor unions he has long regarded as a menace to be crushed, but his denunciations, it is said, have been met with defiance.

It was agreed to-day to give the Hebrew unions a chance to return to the fold by their members agreeing to expel the Socialists. The Cloak Makers' Union is among those expelled.

Gompers's action is said to have the strong support of the rank and file of the American Federation throughout the country, and also of the Central Federated Union. This was indicated by the prompt action taken by that body to-day.

The suspension was the chief topic of conversation among federation members of his race to respect the socialism.
